

ConneXion

BRINGING CONVERTERS & SUPPLIERS TOGETHER

For packaging manufacturers and converters, registration to the service is free.

We gather all critical information about the converter, including name, company, position and email; this information allows us to provide powerful analytics, allowing suppliers to interact with converters in a tailored fashion to suit the user's preferences.

The online expo event will run in a virtual environment for four weeks, during which time there will be live streaming of content in the auditorium.

Each week, there will be one 'live day' with:

- webinars • round tables • presentations • live-streaming events

This content will be recorded and then hosted for the remaining days in that week.

Utilizing the latest technology and creating a community-based information channel, Brunton Business Publications brings you ConneXion. Through this channel, we have created a central hub for suppliers of equipment and services around the world to connect with packaging producers. It is a platform where people can learn, interact and share information.

After the event concludes in the last week of November, the channel will continue to operate through the community app, serving suppliers and converters with daily news, features, show cases, video content and a media-rich environment for webinars and educational presentations. We can work with suppliers for the sharing of open house events, live-streaming of demonstrations as well as hosting company-specific events.
